Geographic Limits:Creekview Road Interchange at PA 581, Hampden Township, Cumberland County

Narrative: Installing signals at the PA-581 eastbound and westbound interchange ramps at the Creekview Road overpass. Roadway and shoulder widening will be provided to add right turn lanes at each ramp. Pedestrian curb ramps, push buttons, and cross walks will be provided throughout the interchange. Additional work includes guiderail and new signs, along with new signals. Guiderail will be installed on the inside of the proposed right-turn lanes. The project will also include drainage improvements. In the southwest quadrant of the interchange, a drainage easement is necessary for maintenance of an existing swale. A rain garden will be provided within the PennDOT's right-of-way adjacent to Ramp G. In the southeast quadrant, required right-of-way and a drainage easement is proposed to provide for a large storm water basin and outlet to the nearby tributary.

Geographic Limits:Kunkle Bridge (Petersburg Road) over Yellow Breeches Creek, South Middleton Township, Cumberland County.

Narrative:Kunkle Bridge is steel thru girder, one lane bridge that carries Petersburg Road over the Yellow Breeches Creek in South Middleton Township. The bridge is fracture critical, scour critical, functionally obsolete and structurally deficient. The bridge carries approximately 700 vehicles a day and provides north/south access for school buses, agriculture vehicles, and daily traffic in the township. The 2013 inspection of the bridge showed accelerated deterioration of the bridge's floor beams which resulted in the county lowering the weight posting of the bridge to 14 tons for singles and 20 tons for combinations. The replacement option was pursued as repairing the deteriorated beams would have considerable cost and would not fully remove the weight posting or single lane problems associated with the bridge.
